

When does childhood goes? (Boundaries and events of the ending of childhood)

Abstract: The article based on a sociological study of 2018 denotes the subjective boundary of the childhood of the modern young generation, states the situation of the extension of childhood for some groups, clarifies its breadth and conditionality by some factors, and draws conclusions about effective technologies for this group in social pedagogy.

SUBJECTIVE MEASUREMENT OF CHILD POVERTY

The article implements an approach to the study of poverty in childhood on the basis of retrospective subjective assessments of contemporary youth events of childhood. Discrepancies of average age of passing of a number of events at children from poor families and other groups are revealed. The necessity of interaction between state and non-state institutions in order to compensate, and in the future eliminate child poverty is proved.

The subjective dimension of child poverty: different life, different eventfulness?

Annotation: the article presents the authors' positions on the definition of child poverty and the possibilities of studying its characteristics on the basis of retrospective subjective evaluations of the events of childhood. The serious differences in the average age of the events of mobility, development of culture, information technologies, deviations in children from poor families and other groups are revealed on the basis of a sociological study of youth in 2018. It is concluded that it is imperative to use social technologies to eradicate child poverty not only with the use of material support for the family, but also with the support of positive childhood events.
